HARDING AND AIDES REJECT PROPOSAL TO DAMPEN U. S.

This Is Not Time To Ask Modifier, They Decide

PRESSURE HEAVY

G.O.P. Party Managers Fear Hostility Of Bone Drys

Exclusive Dispatch to THE CHINA PRESS

Washington, Jan. 14.—President Harding and the Republican leaders in Congress held a conference today on the "Prohibition Question," at which it was decided that this is not the time to ask Congress to submit a proposal for a constitutional amendment "to expand or liberalise the terms of the Prohibition amendment."

The conference was called as the result of great pressure from many sections of the country, brought about by a combination of elements, including the openly "wet" group; the so-called "foreign" groups; the admittedly selfish interests who hope to profit through a letting down of the liquor bars, and the great mass of liberals who are in favor of prohibition but who believe it is impossible to enforce the present bone-dry law, and who see in the open, flagrant and much advertised evasion of the law a national danger that is as grave as were the evils of the open saloon.

This group takes the stand that since it has been pretty well demonstrated that following the imposition of the Prohibition Amendment it has become "fashionable" to violate the law something should be done lest the universal contempt for this particular law spread until all laws are held in like contempt.

So great did the pressure become from these various sources that President Harding was driven some time ago into a public admission that it "might be necessary to modify the law at some future time." Considering that this was little short of courting political assassination at the hands of the millions of "last ditch" prohibitionists, it can be seen that the pressure brought to bear by the opposing groups was terrific.

Despite his recent utterances on the question, however, the President yielded today, apparently, to the demand of his party associates for a postponement of the "evil day." This decision was taken to mean that the Republican leaders, remembering their hairbreadth escape at the November election, decided not to risk such deadly offence to the "Bone Drys" as acceptance of the demand for a modifying amendment would have involved.

MR. H. A. THOMPSON PREFERS JAIL TO PAYING ALIMONY

Asserts He Can't And Won't Despite Judge's Threat Of Prison

"I will cheerfully go to jail rather than pay!"

Mr. H. A. Thompson, adamant in his refusal to pay a separation allowance recently granted his wife, Mrs. Marie Thompson, yesterday told Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court that jail held no terrors for him and he would gladly serve time rather than give her a cent.

Mr. Thompson's declaration came after Mrs. Thompson, through her attorney, Mr. K. E. Newman, had had him haled into court because of delinquencies in payments due her.

Mr. Thompson asserted that he could not pay her because he had no money and would not pay her on the grounds of sentiment. Judge Grain explained that the Court could not take any sentiment into consideration, even though Mr. Thompson gave as his reasons that he had learned Mrs. Thompson was leaving Shanghai with another man. Mr. Newman denied the allegation on behalf of Mrs. Thompson.

HAS NO MONEY

Examined by Mr. Newman, Mr. Thompson said that he received only Tls. 250 per month and it took every cent to keep him. He could not live on Tls. 150 a month he said, and had no funds to pay his wife.

Judge Grain made an order for the payment of Tls. 125 for December to be paid within two weeks, and similar funds each month when Mr. Thompson found employment, warning him that his present action was stupid and would lead only to further trouble. A committal order was also made to be suspended pending payment of the order.

MILLIONAIRE AND CHILDREN ARE KILLED IN AERO CRASH

E. F. Atkins, Boston Sugar Man, Meets Death

NEAR HAVANA

Seaplane, Disabled, Smashed By Big Wave

Exclusive Dispatch to THE CHINA PRESS

Key West, Florida, Jan. 14—Edwin F. Atkins, Jr., one of the wealthiest and best known business men in the United States, and two of his children were killed today in the crash of the seaplane "Columbus," of the regular Key West-Havana air line, a few miles off the Cuban coast near Havana. Another passenger, Miss Grace McDonald, also was killed. Three other passengers including Mrs. Atkins and the pilot and mechanician were rescued.

While all those rescued were so severely injured that it was impossible for them to give a connected account of the disaster it was learned, from statements pieced together, that the big seaplane was flying at a height of about two hundred feet above the sea when something went wrong with one of the engines. The pilot and mechanician tried to make the necessary repair without alighting, as a very heavy sea was running. Despite their efforts the damaged engine could not be started and the machine continued to lose height until finally it was necessary to drop to the surface.

In landing a big wave hit the aero with such force that the two Atkins children were killed instantly by the impact. Atkins and Miss McDonald were thrown out of the passenger compartment and dashed into the sea. Atkins, however, seized Miss McDonald and clung with her to the wreckage for a time, but was not able to maintain his hold when a big wave struck the wreck.

One of the Flagler line boats was near at the time and immediately went to the rescue of the seaplane, the crew and passengers of which were struggling in the water. A life boat was launched and after a hard struggle with the tremendous waves all the survivors were picked up and hurried ly taken ashore, where all were immediately sent to a hospital.

Atkins was one of the most prominent sugar operators in Cuba, and had the formation of a new company under way when he was killed. His father, Edwin F. Atkins, Sr., is one of the best known sugar manufacturers and importers in America, and was chairman of the board of directors of the American Sugar Refining Company until July, 1915 when he resigned. He was vice president of the Union Pacific Railroad Company from 1889 until 1895, and afterwards a director of the road. He was also a director of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. and an active figure in many New York and New England textile companies, including Aetna Mills, of which he was at one time president.

His son, who with his wife and children were aboard the "Columbus" when it crashed today, had taken over most of the father's large and varied interests, including his sugar holdings. Like his father, he was a Harvard man, and one of the best known capitalists in New England, with an office at 10 Broad street, Boston. He also maintained an office at 111 Wall street, New York.

P.M. Freighter Goes On Beach

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, Jan. 15.—The United States Shipping Board freighter, Patrick Henry, operated by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company was beached on a sandy bottom off Sibay Island today. The steamer carried a cargo of 4,000 tons of sugar and rice and was bound for New York via Manila, Galveston and New Orleans. The vessel hit a reef and backed off with her own power but she began to leak which compelled the beaching. It is believed that the vessel will be quickly repaired.

Moore Awarded G.$250 Damages In Libel Suit

Damages of G.$250 and costs were given Mr. Percy R. Moore against Mr. Jay Elmont in a judgment handed down in the United States Court for China by Judge Charles S. Lobingier yesterday. The judgment ends a libel action brought by Mr. Moore against Mr. Elmont, a boarding house keeper, in which he asked for $20,000 damages because of the publication of an advertisement in the Shanghai Gazette at the time Mr. Moore was on trial charged with a criminal offense of which he was found not guilty.

The complete judgment follows:

Percy R. Moore, plaintiff, vs. Jay Elmont et al, defendants.

Cause No. 1862, Civil No. 664, Judgment.

SYLLABUS

(By the Court)

1. Libel: What constitutes. A publication charging one with immorality is libelous per se.

2. ID.: Damages. The one so charged is entitled at least to nominal damages.

3. ID.: Justification. The doctrine of U. S. vs. Armstrong, 1 Extraterritorial Cases, 485, reaffirmed.

Messrs. Schuhl and Schoenfeld by Mr. Schuhl for plaintiff.

Messrs. Williams, Franklin and Faison by Mr. Faison for defendant.

Lobingier, J.:

The principal defendant admits that he published in several issues of the Shanghai Gazette, a paper of general circulation at the time, the following advertisement relating to plaintiff, against whom a prosecution for adultery was then pending and undecided:

"Speakin.' about the Moore Case! If that bird didn't put the 'Mor' in Mormon, he sure didn't put it in Morality. Take a run down Whangpoo Road and if you don't agree it is open season for Asbestos earmuffs, that I haven't got the Best Chow, the Cleanest Rooms, and the Best Service in Shanghai, and I'll furnish all the necessary evidence, to some just regular folks who want to come to live with me. I've a nice little apartment for two or three chaps and everything is the darb."

Defendant's counsel admits that this advertisement was "foolish" and "silly;" but it is really much more. In the first place it is settled that such a publication relating to the merits of a case fully pending in the courts, constitutes contempt. (1) Again it is a settled doctrine of this and other courts that a publication is libelous if it "merely tend to lessen a man in public esteem. (2) This publication, it is not seriously disputed, amounts to a charge of immorality. It certainly was as much so as the publication concerning a candidate for office "there was that Iowa Beecher business of his, which beat him

COURT ORDERS OFT OFFENDING DAIRY TO CLOSE

Chinese Establishment, After Many Lapses, Put Out Of Business

The campaign which the Health Department is waging against unsanitary and badly-conducted dairies made another advance yesterday when the Mixed Court granted an application for the closing of an establishment at 102 Jessfield Road, owned by one Soong Yuen-kyung.

Chief Health Inspector Melville appeared before Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Kwan to prosecute the case. He stated that on March 26, 1922 milk obtained from this dairy farm was found to contain 38.25 percent of added water. Four days later an analysis of the output showed the adulteration to be 43.6 percent. As a result Soong was fined $100. Another fine of $100 was assessed when, on May 21, 16.6 percent of the natural fat was found to have been extracted from the milk. On August 17 another analysis showed the fat extraction to be 50 percent. Soong was warned that his license would be revoked but in December further adulteration and fat extraction was apparent in the milk.

Recently Soong had a number of outhouses built around his establishment and the Health Commissioner informed him that the dairy would have to be closed. Inspection this month, however, showed that milk was still being supplied. Inspector Melville therefore asked the Court to order the dairy to close within two weeks. The order was given.

U.S. RED CROSS GIVES $25,000 FOR RUSS RELIEF

Morgan Palmer To Administer Fund In Manchuria

The American Red Cross has undertaken Russian refugee relief work in Manchuia and China with an initial preliminary appropriation of G.$25,000 for emergency relief, according to an announcement made last night by the China Central Committee, local branch of the American organisation.

Mr. Morgan Palmer of the Salt Gabelle has accepted the invitation of the Red Cross to head the relief organisation which will be formed under the local committee, and is already in Kirin from where he will make a preliminary survey of the relief needed and form his distributing organisation.

From reports gathered by the Red Cross from American Consuls and other officials it is estimated that there are approximately 53,000 Russian refugees in Manchuria, China and Korea at the present time, of whom 35,000 are scattered about Manchuria. The refugees in Manchuria are mostly centered in Kirin, Mukden, and Hunchun. 8,600 refugees, recently on the Manchurian border at Hunchun, have now proceeded to Kirin where they are receiving 2 pounds of bread per day each and

Punishment To Follow If Invitations Of Engineers' Commission For Conferences Are Further Ignored

GEN. DEGOUTTE ISSUES ORDER

Berlin Announces Intention To Suspend Cash Payments And Deliveries In Kind Because Of New Occupation

Exclusive Dispatch to THE CHINA PRESS

Essen, Jan. 14.—The French officials in the newly occupied zone have threatened a policy of "confiscation and arrest" if the German industrialists and mine owners continue to ignore invitations to confer with the French engineers' commission. A proclamation to this effect was issued today by General De Goutte, commander of the French military forces, who also let it be known at the same time that "all possible measures of pressure" would be applied by the French if the work of the commission was interfered with, or if the policy of "passive resistance" resulted in serious handicaps for the French.

At the town of Stiele, two miles from here, a French flag hoisted by the military forces was torn down and destroyed. For this the burgomaster was forced to apologise to the French commander.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Jan. 15.—The Reparations Commission has received a Note from the German Government intimating its intention to suspend cash payments and also deliveries in kind in view of the occupation of the Ruhr, which it considers a violation of the Treaty of Versailles.

(Reuter's Service)

Essen, Jan. 15.—A meeting of 1,500 officials and miners of the German Miners' Union yesterday passed a resolution condemning the French occupation as a violation of German freedom. A fiery speech by the President was warmly applauded.

An incident is reported at the small town of Buer where French soldiers on their arrival were greeted by showers of stones, although no one was injured. The French General announced that the German Police Superintendent will be punished.

(Reuter's Service)

Essen, Jan. 15.—It is authoritatively learned that obvious discrepancy between the French and German points of view was disclosed at yesterday's inter-Allied meeting.

The Germans declare that under the new arrangements France becomes a customer of the mines purely on a business basis and exactly corresponding to any ordinary purchaser.

The French assert that their payments to the mines will simply be sufficient to cover salaries and working costs to enable the mines to continue to produce.

The discrepancy will undoubtedly be the main theme of today's meeting of the joint Franco-German Commission. It is conceivable that it will lead to a rupture at a very early moment.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Jan. 15.—A telegram from Essen denies the report that the French experts have decided to pay for coal deliveries in good currency.

The Temps says that payment for reparation coal may be made by the proceeds from the coal tax which, owing to occupation now extending to almost the whole coalfield, will be levied by the Allies upon the entire output of the Ruhr.

(Reuter's Service)

Essen, Jan. 15.—A decree has been issued relieving the French troops from obligation to pay the luxury tax; ordering notification of all meetings three days previously together with the names of the organisers, the time and place and probable attendance; forbidding strikes and processions of uniformed persons, compelling the posting up of price lists in German currency in all shops and prohibiting German soldiers from crossing from the unoccupied into the occupied territory.

(Reuter's Service)

Essen, Jan. 13.—Germany has agreed to resume coal deliveries under tentative arrangements, controlled by a Franco-German Commission.

It is understood that the basis of the agreement for the resumption of coal deliveries is that the Inter-Allied Mission pays cash for them.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Jan. 13.—The Miners' unions have appealed to the Ruhr miners to keep calm and not to commit excesses against the occupying troops.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Jan. 13.—It is reported from Dusseldorf that the line of occupation runs through Sterkrade, Bottrop, Herne River, Alter-Essen, Kotterburg, Kray, Steele, Rellinghausen, Warden and Kettwig. The foregoing constitutes the objective of the French who

BEGIN PROBE OF AMERICAN'S DEATH HERE SATURDAY

Mysterious Circumstances Surround Fatal Injury Of Bernard F. Hurld

Municipal police and American authorities are conducting a thorough investigation into the mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of Mr. Bernard F. Hurld, former chief engineer on U. S. Shipping Board steamers, who died at the General Hospital Saturday night.

Detectives are working on the theory that his death was caused by a blow from a blunt instrument between about 5:30 o'clock and 6:30 o'clock on Friday as his movements can be traced up to the former hour when he entered the Portland Hotel on Seward Road, according to a boy employed at the place.

Hurld told Manager Henry Moore of the Astor Bar that he had been in trouble at the Portland and employes of the hotel assert that Friday evening a foreigner assaulted a Chinese boy there.

A coroner's jury was convened yesterday morning at the American Court and asked for an autopsy, which was performed yesterday afternoon by Dr. Thomas B. Dunn. Evidence will be given by Dr. Dunn when the inquest is reopened this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Coroner Nelson E. Lurton. In the meantime a thorough investigation is being made by police and they hope to shed more light on the circumstances surrounding Hurld's death today.

FROM MASSACHUSETTS

Hurld came from Stoneham, Massachusetts, his father, mother, three brothers and three sisters, are residing. He was known here by Mr. E. L. Healey of the Texas Oil Company, also a native of Stoneham, and the latter was in communication with Hurld's relatives yesterday. They have asked for complete details of the tragedy.

Arrangements for funeral services were completed last night and High Mass of Requiem will be sung at St. Joseph's Cathedral tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in the Bubbling Well Cemetery at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, when Father

Paris, Jan. 13.—The Reparations Commission has postponed the date for the next German reparations payment to January 31 as a provisional measure.

No vote was taken by the Reparations Commission on the question of the moratorium but Sir John Bradbury withheld his approval of the decision to notify the German War Burdens Commission that the Moratorium had been provisionally extended to January 31. Sir John Bradbury declared that this was contrary to the British policy of a long moratorium. He also dissented from the decision to supply information of the new French, Belgian and Italian Control Commission in the Ruhr of which the Reparations Commission had no official cognisance.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Jan. 13.—The Reparations Commission will meet on Tuesday to hear the representatives of Austria and Hungary on the question of the reparation on the debt of the former monarchy of Austria-Hungary amongst the successor States.

Paris, Jan. 13.—The Municipal Council of Algiers has sent congratulations to M. Poincare on the moderate attitude adopted by him with a view to obtaining from Germany the legitimate payment of her debts to France.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Jan. 13.—The Ministers and Under-Secretaries of State met today under the Presidency of M. Poincare.

The following communique was issued after the conference:

The Premier, and the Ministers of War and Public Works communicated to the council very satisfactory information on the subject of the installation of our engineers' missions in the Ruhr and the first conversations with the industrialists of the district.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Jan. 13.—The grain brokers of the Hamburg Bourse have passed a resolution refusing to do business directly or indirectly with French and Belgian firms.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Jan. 13.—The admission of French journalists to the Reichstag has been suspended.

The House remained standing to hear a speech by the Chancellor, Herr Cuno, vehemently denouncing the very costly military action by the French which was ostensibly undertaken for small arrears in the deliveries of coal and telegraph poles.

He expressed the opinion, however, that it was not a question of reparations but of the 400 years old policy of destroying the German Empire, the policy of brutal expansion clothed as formerly in the garb of right except that the old watchword "Reunion" had become "Reparation." "Dare we expect," Herr Cuno added, "that the compelling force of economic development will sooner or later lead to a chance before a conflagration starts which will menace not only Germany but Europe?"

The Chancellor urged the necessity of the most vigilant prudence, self-restraint and co-operation between the people and the State in order to avoid disastrous consequences to the community.

In conclusion Herr Cuno said: "Injustice, misery and deprivation are our fate today, freedom and life our aim and unity our path."

The Reichstag passed a vote of confidence in the Government by 283 votes to 12.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Jan. 14.—The reports that the managers of the Ruhr mines and the engineers' mission have decided on payment in cash for coal is formally denied. There was no question of payments at the Essen meeting. Formal reservations were made on the method of fixing the prices asked and measures were taken to ensure that there shall be no lessening in the amount of the deliveries.

(Reuter's Service)

Essen, Jan. 15.—Following a meeting of the Inter-Allied engineers yesterday it is believed that the Allies will declare a further default by Germany with regard to coal deliveries and demand that further pressure should be exerted against Germany.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Jan. 15.—A statement, issued yesterday evening, says that the French troops will probably occupy Bochum today.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Jan. 14.—According to the newspapers the German decision to resume deliveries of coal followed the assurance given by the Allied engineers that deliveries will be paid by means of the tax on coal in the Ruhr, which amounts to 40 percent while deliveries to the Allies will not exceed 20 percent of the output. Thus payment will only absorb half the tax.

The Duesseldorf correspondent of the Echo de Paris states that in no case will coal be paid for with French money.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Jan. 14.—A number of protest meetings against the French occupation of the Ruhr, including a great demonstration on the Koenigsplatz opposite the Reichstag, passed off without disturbance and did not necessitate intervention by the strong police forces which had been precautionarily mobilised.

Resolutions were submitted and ananimously adopted. The occasion was marked by the half-masting of the flags on all Government buildings and the display of the Republican colors for the first time from several fashionable hotels. Patriotic songs were repeatedly sung and there were frequent cries of: "Down with France."

Outlook In Erin Dark, Says Writer

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 14.—The seriousness of the situation in Ireland is emphasized by Mr. Stephen Gwynn, writing to the Observer from Dublin. He says that the Government is relying on the Army, which does not exceed 30,000 men and which lacks skilled direction to crush the rebels, but the Army is not supported by the population hence the recrudescence of outrages like burning of mansions, attacks on railways, and daring hold-ups of meetings of the authorities in attempts to kidnap public men.

Mr. Gwynn hopes for better results from the appointment of General Murphy as Director of Operations but he expresses the opinion that any reorganisation should be accompanied by measures to arm trustworthy civilians to enable them to defend their own rights against the increasingly aggressive rebels.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 13.—Mr. William Cosgrave's unoccupied country residence at Rathfarnham has practically been burned down. The Fire Brigade after four hours work only saved the servants quarters and some furniture.

Rebels early in the morning forced an entrance and sprinkled petrol on the furniture. It is reported that the rebels kidnapped a Senator whom they are holding as hostage for their leader, Mr. O'Maille, whose court martial on January 11 was postponed on account of illness.

The renewed activity of the rebels in the vicinity of Dublin is causing widespread alarm. The outbreaks are attributed to the rupture in the peace negotiations owing to the Government's refusal to recognise Mr. De Valera as the head of the "Republican Government."

London, Jan. 13.—The Senator, kidnapped in Mr. Cosgrave's house today, has escaped from the hands of the rebels and returned home.

League Of Nations Society At Peking Holds Meeting

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Jan. 15.—The Peking Chinese League of Nations Society yesterday held a reception at which 100 members of Parliament were present. The Chairman, Mr. Wang Tah-hsieh, presided and Dr. Wellington Koo and Mr. Lin Chang-min assisted.

Mr. Wang made a brief address and was followed by Mr. Lin, who urged the appointment as Directors of the Society of the Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the House of Representatives and also of the Chairman of the Constitution Drafting Committee. He also urged that all the members present should be appointed members of the Society.

Mr. Lin suggested that the principles of the League of Nations should be explained in simple language in the textbooks of the middle and primary schools and contended that disbandment of troops and opium suppression must be carried out in accordance with the League's principles.

Dr. Wellington Koo's resume of his work as China's principal delegate on the League was received with applause.

Several members of Parliament expressed their sympathy with the objects of the Society and promised their hearty support.

Begin Probe Of American's Death Here Saturday

Grech Cumbo, S. J., will read the services at the grave.

Several witnesses will be called this afternoon when the case is resumed and the jury will again hear the story of the trouble in the Portland. Evidence on this was heard yesterday, the Chinese boy testifying that he was kicked and punched by a foreigner, who immediately left the place. It was not established that Hurld was the foreigner.

An hour later Hurld was seen by Mr. Moore. He then went to the hospital, going from there to a friend, Mr. J. B. Huston, Victoria Nursing Home attendant, the latter taking him back to the Hospital where Dr. Dunn was called. There was no hope of saving his life as an operation would have been fruitless. A fractured skull was the cause of death.

Yesterday Mr. Healey told of Hurld's receiving G. $600 from his relatives in America and said that he had made arrangements to go to the United States shortly.

The coroner's jury is made up of Messrs. H. E. Landers, V. H. Armstrong, Frank R. McGrath, Michael Healey, Frick and J. E. Doyle. The jury viewed the body at the General Hospital yesterday morning before formal evidence was taken at the Court.

To a fortunate few, wealth may come as a result of gift, inheritance, luck or speculation, but most of us can achieve it only through hard work and close adherence to a carefully thought-out financial plan. Any such program must include these three fundamental precepts of personal finance:—

1. Earn as much as you can.
2. Save an increasing percentage of your income.
3. Invest this surplus to bring the largest possible return compatible with safety.

The first two points are chiefly under YOUR control but when it comes to the third factor, WE can be of invaluable service through information and advice.

Moore Awarded G.$250 Damages In Libel Suit

of which it was observed "inasmuch as courts have no right to ignorant of the meaning of current phrases which everybody else understands, it can hardly be seriously urged that such a charge, coupled with an averment that it lost a minister his situation, and backed with a justification, should be assumed without some explanation to be capable of an innocent meaning.

"Defendant was bound to show a loss of position at Grass Lake upon some charge of immoral conduct affecting the plaintiff's clerical character in order to justify this charge."

Such a charge is libelous per se and

"It is not necessary that the charge of unchastity be direct, but any written charge fairly imputing immorality or unchaste conduct, even though not amounting to illegal sexual intercourse, is actionable." (4);

The only defense pleaded by either defendant is the following alleged in the answer of the principal one:

"If the Honorable Court should hold that the alleged libelous words imputed to defendant charge the plaintiff with being a man of immoral character or promiscuous in his relationship with woman, the said charge is true."

But even if this defense were fully established it would not suffice to absolve defendant from liability. For under the law obtaining in this jurisdiction "the alleged libelous matter must not only be proved to be true, in order to constitute a defense, but it must be proved that it was published both with good motives and for justifiable ends." (5).

This based upon a special act of Congress (6) which by virtue of a well known decision (7) is in force here and which provides as follows:

"That an injurious publication is presumed to have been malicious if no justifiable end or good motive is shown for making it."

A still later act (8) reads:

"Any publication of a libel shall be justified if it appear that the matter charged as libelous was true and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends."

Now it will be seen that the defendants do not even allege that the publication here complained of and admitted, "was published with good motives and for justifiable ends." Much less do they attempt so to prove. In the language, therefore, of the statute first above quoted, said publication "is presumed to have been malicious." Added to this presumption is the admitted fact that the publication was timed to appear while plaintiff was on trial before this court for his reputation.

We need not stop to consider therefore whether or not there was a basis of truth for defendant's imputation. It is but fair to state however that plaintiff denied all charges of sexual immorality and that the evidence required in such cases must be equal to what which would convict in a criminal prosecution for such offense. (9) Even the party's confession has been held insufficient (10).

But the law does not permit the publication of any sort of a statement, under any sort of circumstances, merely because it may be true. As was observed by an eminent English judge, "The greater the truth, the greater the libel." The meaning of this is that except under certain conditions, as when one is a candidate for elective office, the publication of defamatory matter, even if true, would serve no worthy public purpose and would cause unnecessary hardship and suffering to individuals.

It is clear, then, that the principal defendant has failed to establish a legal defense and the only question as to him is the quantum of damages. But it has not been proved that his wife, the other defendant, had any part in the publication. The admission was merely that the "advertisement set out in Paragraph 3 of plaintiff's petition was published by the defendant Jay Elmont."

We have seen that the publication complained of is actionable per se and the rule in such cases is that "plaintiff is entitled to at least nominal damages." (11) No special damage is alleged in the petition or established by the evidence. Moreover, defendant was offered to (defendant an apology for the publication and while a mere offer of this kind after an action is brought is not technically a ground for mitigating damages, (12) still we may consider it in determining whether anything more than nominal damages need be awarded.

But nominal damages as we have recently held (13) may amount to as much as G.$250.00 and we do not think that any less amount would suffice here in view of the character and time of the publication.

It is accordingly considered and adjudged that plaintiff have and recover from the defendant, Jay Elmont, the sum of $250.00 U. S. currency together with costs and that the remaining defendant be hence dismissed without a day.

By the Court,
CHARLES S. LOBINGIER,
Judge.

China May Send Envoys To Moscow

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Jan. 13.—A lengthy telegram has of late been addressed to the Central Government by Mr. Wang Ching-chun, Tupan of the Chinese Eastern Railway, pointing to the fact that M. Joffe's remarks in Peking are absolutely contradictory to his real actions, and urging that Chinese delegates be despatched by the Chinese Government to Moscow in order to conduct direct negotiations with the Soviet Government with the object of solving the Chinese Eastern Railway question.

With regard to the arbitrary actions on the part of M. Joffe and the Reds, Mr. Wang asserts that it is necessary to arouse public opinion and to diffuse propaganda at home and abroad to cause the Chinese people to oppose M. Joffe, and to back up China's diplomacy.

Hongkong To Have New Taxicab Service

Hongkong, long dependent on ricshas, chair or occasional hire cars, is to have taxi-cab service in the near future, according to the Hongkong Telegraph. Thirty blue taxi-cabs, similiar to those in use in London, will start the service although it is expected to have 200 in operation in the near future.

Arrest Alleged Pirate Leader In Frenchtown

Plans for what is thought to have been a repetition of the Sui An piracy were thwarted yesterday when local police, assisted by a member of the Hongkong police, raided a Chinese boarding house at 55 Rue du Consulat, arrested the alleged leader of the pirate gang, and confiscated 12 revolvers and two automatic pistols.

Detective Inspector Willis of Hongkong, with advance information of the proposed piracy, made the raid in company with Detective Inspector Cruikshank and Detective Sergeant Douglas of the Municipal Police and Detective Inspector Dupree of the French police.

The s.s. Kwangtah, which sailed for Hongkong yesterday, was also searched for other members of the pirate gang, but none were found. The man arrested is being held by the French police.

THRIFT with a Two-fold Purpose

THE dictionary defines thrift as "economical management." Certainly as applied to you and your family the highest form of thrift is that which, for the lowest investment, makes the largest provision for their future welfare in case of your non-survival.

SUCCESS goes hand in hand with the ability to save, but the savings plan that fails to reckon with the uncertainty of life, may find those who are dependent upon it with little or no income soon after your help is gone.

ADEQUATE life insurance is the safest, surest way of saving money, and it is much more. It means protection for those who are dearest to you—a sure income for them as long as they live. It is a compulsory savings plan that, once begun, you are unlikely to abandon. It is the highest form of thrift—the economical management of your family's welfare.

SUN UNDECIDED WHETHER TO GO SOUTH, HE SAYS

Leader Declares He Is Being Strongly Urged To Leave

The Shun Pao and the Sin Wen Pao report that at an interview Sunday, Dr. Sun Yat-sen declared that he had not yet decided whether he would return to Canton or not though he had been repeatedly and strongly urged to do so by his followers in Kwangtung.

"Though all the troops in Kwangtung are not a very homogeneous force, they will not constitute a menace to peace, once Gen. Chen Chiung-ming leaves the scene," remarked the Southern leader.

Dr. Sun declared that he still adhered to the principles of unification and peace.

The Constitutionalist leader reiterated the importance of disbanding superfluous troops, which, he said, was the sole key to permanent re-unification. He pointed out that an organised public opinion was the most effective instrument to destroy the predominance of militarism which now obtains in the country.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, Jan. 9.—Leading organisations of Canton, led by the Kwangtung Provincial Assembly, have protested against the action of Cantonese political parties in bringing troops from Kwangsi and Yunnan into local political and military conflicts. The protest was addressed by the Assembly to the commanding generals and to representative organisations and individuals, including the ex-Premier, Mr. Tang Shao-yi, who is now in retirement at Heungshan.

A report from the Chief of Staff of the Cantonese Army at Taking, dated January 8, stated that the enemy had been driven back more than twenty li as a result of an engagement beginning in the morning of the same day.

The Cantonese captured about 150 rifles and 50,000 rounds of cartridges, besides causing four enemy ships to sink. The report did not give the place where the action took place.

Reports from Swatow, Kongmoon, Samshui and other open ports indicate that the Cantonese commanders there have the situation in hand. Press, mail and telegraph censorships have been established in Swatow as well as Canton.

To raise funds to meet war expenses on the West River, the Kwangtung Commissioner of Finance is sending special agents to districts to induce the collectors to collect taxes in advance.

(China Press Service)

Peking, Jan. 14.—Premier Chang Shou-tseng is in receipt of a telegram from Dr. Sun Yatsen, transmitted by Gen. Hsu Shao-tseng, with regard to the latest developments in the South. Dr. Sun states that the expedition of the Constitutionalist troops from Kwangsi and Fukien is directed against Chen Chiung-ming, the Kwangtung rebel leader and that the expedition will not adversely affect the reunification of the country.

Dr. Sun adds that national reunification will be effected if the Government acts upon the proposals set forth in his manifesto issued in August last with regard to the reinstatement of the "1919" personnel of Parliament, the abolition of the Tuchunal system and the conversion of troops into labor corps.

BY TOMMY GRAFTON

Carl Neprud's Rowing Club Blues took the lead in the Foreign Basketball League last night when they vanquished the Bearcats in a thrilling game on the Rowing Club floor, the final score standing 28 to 21.

It was one of the big games of the local season, and a record crowd was on hand to see the start. A moment after the whistle blew Neprud tipped the ball straight to Coulcher, who scored the first goal of the game. A few seconds later the Blues again scored, but Doc Gray came through for the Bearcats, cazing a phenomenal shot from the corner, which set the crowd yelling.

But the Blues were not to be halted. Coulcher and the younger Nash ran up the score so fast that it appeared as if Kenny Irle's team stood no chance of winning at all, for at one time the Blues were leading 16 to 2. Irle rallied his men together, and quick passing and accurate shooting by Doc Gray and Irle put the Bears three baskets behind Neprud's team, and half-time found the count 16 to 10.

At the beginning of the second half the Blues again broke away, and enjoyed an easy lead after Goldman had tallied four baskets with great shooting. The Bearcats came back and showed their mettle, Irle and Gray featuring an attack which the whistle halted only too soon for the Blues.

BEARCATS' FIRST DEFEAT

It was the first defeat for the Bearcats since the opening game with the American School, and halted the winning streak of eight straight games. The defeat last night may be pratically attributed to unfamiliarity with the Rowing Club floor, where the Bears have never shown up to real form. The low ceiling bothered Irle's passing, and had the game been played on the "Y" floor, there might have been a different tale.

Doc Gray played a sensational game at forward, scoring most of the points for the losers, tallying five goals from the floor and an equal number from the foul line, whither both quintets took frequent trips after Roy Squires took up the burden of refereeing. Doc dropped in some remarkable overhand tosses in the closing minutes of the initial period, and it was his spectacular work that kept the Cats close behind and made it a battle.

Kenny Irle played a whirlwind floor game, guarding Neprud in great style, and leading a brilliant passing attack. The Bearcat center played guard most of the time, and only attempted a few shots at the basket, two of which were successful.

Carl Neprud was not so much in evidence on the score card, but he played a grand game for the winners, and was the backbone of the Rowing Club team. Coulcher scored several beautiful shots for the winners in the first half, while Lolly Goldman netted four goals in beautiful form and had the Bearcat guards guessing.

H. Nash, the swift Blue guard, again shone, and gave his team an early lead through two clean shots from under the basket.

The old question of referees again came up, and it was noticeable during the first half that both teams were rather careless about the fouling, and yet not a foul was called by the referee. Roy Squires halted the rough play in the second period, calling fouls fearlessly on both teams.

The summary follows:

Bearcats 21		Blues 28
Gray	lf	Coulcher
Roxburgh	rf	Goldman
Irle	c	Neprud
Hirsh	lg	H. Nash
Lewis	rg	E. Nash

Goals from floor: Gray 5, Roxburgh, Irle 2, Coulcher 4, Goldman 5, Neprud, H. Nash 2, E. Nash. Goals from fouls: Gray 5, Neprud 2. Referees: Baldwin, Squires.

WHITES FORFEIT GAME

The Whites again failed to show up, and the Stripes took the scheduled game via the forfeit route.

Tonight the two school fives battle on the Y.M.C.A. floor at 9 o'clock.

URGE FILIPINOS TO TRAIN EARLY FOR OLYMPICS

Officials of the Philippine Amateur Athletic Federation are doing everything in their power to induce Filipino athletes to start training as early as possible. They consider it a patriotic duty for Filipinos to prepare for the Far Eastern games.

For this purpose, they have issued posters to all the provinces encouraging athletes to round into shape for the annual championships of the Philippine Amateur Athletic Federation to be held during the Manila Carnival, February 3 to 11.

The merits of each participant for the Far Eastern games are decided particularly during this annual championship.

The Director of Education has announced that the annual interscholastic championships will also be held during the next Carnival.

The Philippine Carnival Association has agreed to allot P. 4,000 to the Bureau of Education as aid to its provincial athletic organisations for participation in the interscholastic championships.

The rules for track and field, swimming and volley ball have been revised. These will be published in the 1920-1922 P. A. A. F. Rule and Handbook.

Yale Pushing Policy Of 'Athletics For All'

(China Press Correspondence)

New Haven, Conn., by mail.—The Yale policy of "athletics for all" is arousing unusual interest in minor sports this year. While none of the teams will get into action before the holidays, preliminary work is in full swing. Interest in basketball is especially keen and more of it is being played at the university this year than ever before.

Other teams that have more candidates than ever before are the boxing team, with 150 candidates; the swimming team, with more than one hundred; the track team, with 75, and the fencing team, with 150.

Berlin Public Schools Forbid Fistic Art

(China Press Correspondence)

Berlin, by mail.—Boxing has been forbidden in the public school buildings of Berlin. In announcing the prohibition, the municipal board of education gave no reason for the decision, simply notifying the rectors that the gymnasiums could no longer be used for this form of sport.

Organisations which have been conducting the contests have, in some cases, been forbidden further access to the buildings. In other instances the societies are inaugurating substitute exercises. The Berlin Boxing Union has taken steps to have the action reversed.

WATER CIRCUS ON WAY TO MANILA PLANS TO RETURN

Mr. W. H. Rice and his Water Circus are passing through Shanghai on the Siberia Maru, bound for Manila, where they will appear at the Philippine Carnival, which starts on February 3.

The act has played at all the leading fairs and expositions and on the vaudeville circuits of the United States and Canada. Fifteen principals are carried and the company is built up to 35 performers by native divers and swimmers.

The company will make a tour of the world after the Manila Carnival and plans to show here in the Summer.

SHOOT FOR MEDAL

The January Shanghai Miniature Rifle and Revolver Club revolver competition for the Experts medal and bar will close Wednesday, Jan. 31. The competition calls for five shots at 15 yards (left hand), five shots at 20 yards (either hand) and ten shots at 25 yards (either hand). Time limit for loading and firing 20 shots 5 minutes. Targets with 2 inch inner and 4 inch outer bulls-eye used. It is hoped that more of the members will enter this useful competition, as it teaches how to use the revolver with quickness and accuracy. Any person wishing to join the Club may make application to the Secretary.

Soccer Football Fans See Interport Candidates; Hard Task To Select Team

Shanghai soccer football fans had opportunity to get a good line on possibilities for the interport match to be played at Hongkong next month, on Sunday afternoon when the Possibles walloped the Probables 7-1. Team work in the forward line and great defensive work by Quayle made the score and gave Gussie Remedios and "D" Brown the afternoon of their lives stopping Coulcher or Moosa or Dailey or Tordy or Torry Wilson.

Wilson, Coulcher, Freddie Ollerdessen, de Man, Quayle played great football and some of the stars of the Blues suffered because of their inability to combine and because they were forced to get through Quayle before approaching Baker. It is a shame the big detective is unable to make the trip to the South for he would be a tower of strength for the locals. But he certainly gave opposing forwards a tussle on Sunday.

Dailey and Wilson on the wings were very strong while Coulcher proved himself the most able forward on the field. Johannson and Falconer also played excellent football.

The task of the selection committee is indeed a difficult one for there are many possibilities who are very evenly matched.

Incidentally Hongkong is preparing a great reception for the Shanghai team. In a letter to Mr. C. Hampson, the energetic honorary secretary of the Football Association, those in charge of the welcome to the local men write of entertainments, dances, welcome committees and other features planned soon after the Shanghai flag appears in Hongkong Harbor.

Shanghai will play in White and will play four matches in the Colony, one interport and three exhibition. Fourteen Shanghai men will make the trip. There will be no Navy men on the Hongkong interport eleven.

Pietermaritzburg, Jan. 11.—Rain delayed the start in the match between Natal and the M.C.C. today until 12.30. The weather was then overcast and the wicket wet. Two thousand people were present.

The M. C. C made 248 (Russell 49, Wooley 45, Mead 48). Billing took 7 wickets for 95.

The Mistakes Of The Kaiser

An Answer To The Kaiser's Memoirs

This is the second article of a series on "The Mistakes of the Kaiser," written by Rene Viviani, former premier of France, in which he charges Germany's exiled war lord with evasions and "plain lies" in his memoirs.

BY RENE VIVIANI
(Premier of France When World War Broke Out)
(Copyright, 1922)

Paris, Dec. 18.—The Great Elector governed, unified, centralised. He increased the Prussian army from 230 men to 24,000.

With this example before him, Frederick William I. founded bureaucracy. He was the "sergeantking," severe and methodical, steeped in army regulations, providing, in his actions, a daily lesson to his son—who was to become the Great Frederick. The father himself laid down the principles which were to guide the steps of that son. "It is necessary," he said, "to instill into my son the idea that nothing in the world can shed glory upon a prince as can the sword; he would be a despised creature were he not to love the sword, were he not to seek, in it and for it, the only glory."

Frederick II. profited from these lessons. He kept on sharpening that formidable sword. He increased the army to 180,000 men. In order to make possible recruiting on the immense scale required—immense for that time and taking into consideration the poverty of the country—he mobilised everything, sucked up all the strength of the land, drained the springs of life by summoning to his aid the springs of commerce, industry and agriculture. Of high mental endowment, moved by deplorable instincts, he has left on record his view of how peoples are to be led.

He created the murderous principle which was to destroy human liberty. In his eyes, force and the greatness of the state were the supreme goal of the state. "Interest justifies everything—knavery, lying, breaking of sworn faith!" he wrote, as far back as 1746. "When a ruler sees, in a treaty, a danger for his people, it is his duty to violate that treaty—regretfully, but without hesitation."

Frederick II. illustrated all these theories by his own example. His instructions to his envoys at the court of France and the court of England are masterpieces of duplicity. This man who, in his youth, had written the Anti-Machiavelli, in which he set up principles against robbery, brigandage and other criminal acts, was destined to take part, toward the end of his life, in the odious partition of Poland. Under Frederick II. the Prussian state became the prototype of the machine-state, in which the principle of the state is the essential part.

But a policy of such concentration, under a regime of absolutism disguised as enlightened despotism, requires a strong hand. Hence, when Frederick II. died the springs began to give way. Prussia stopped short in her forward march. War was still the national industry of Prussia, to be sure, as Mirabeau said, but German union was not to be brought about until later.

These, then, are the three men who founded the empire.

HEIRS PALE IN COMPARISON

Three heirs succeeded them. Either on account of the contract between them and their predecessors or of their own weakness, these heirs are pale in comparison; and, in so far as they are concerned, history may well content itself with naming them.

The first of them, Frederick William II., great-great-grandfather of William II., was a soldier always ready to advance, yet who, nevertheless, did not put through what he began. An opponent of the French Revolution, he went as far as Valmy, but made haste to turn about before the troops of the republic.

His son, Frederick William III., undecided and changeable, did not make himself conspicuous by his energy except after the battle of Jena, when events and the co-operation of zealous ministers helped him in the restoration of his country.

As for Frederick William IV., he was incompetent and inert. Though in favor of the unity of Germany, he let the opportunity for achieving it escape when it presented itself. This monarch, stricken, like his grandfather, by a stroke of apoplexy, died soon after with his faculties impaired.

Then it was, in 1856, that his brother William, 60 years of age, became regent, while waiting to ascend the throne, which he did in 1861. He it was who was at last to provide an outlet for the aspirations of Germany toward unity.

FATE FAVORED WILLIAM I.

Fate, which through three successive reigns had refused to show favor to Germany, now underwent a change. A powerful and formidable man, of strong intelligence and unfathomable conscience, subtle and brutal, patient and impetuous, contemptuous alike of kings, men, facts, justice and truth, a sort of monster of intelligence unchained to roam through the forest of the human race—Bismarck—now appears upon the scene. Was he the creator of Germany's welfare? Yes—in the eyes of those who have not looked as far as 1914.

It was at the outset of the regency of Prince William, on January 27, 1859, that Frederick William Victor Albert Hohenzollern, future emperor of war, was born at Berlin. On his mother's side he was of English blood, but he does not appear to have inherited its coldness nor the humorous turn of the British mind. His mother, Victoria, was royal princess of Britain, a daughter of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert. His father was the royal prince of Prussia, Frederick William, who was to reign under the name of Frederick III.

At home, at the period when the brain receives its first impressions, the child found himself surrounded by beneficial influences. The refined culture of his mother, who found no obstacles placed in the path of her educational work by the elegant liberalism of Prince Frederick, sought to influence the little boy and snatch him away from "Prussification." The truth of the matter was that he was brought up in opposition to Bismarck, whose shadow loomed darkly before those who aspired to the throne.

As for the boy's father, a man of great breadth of mind, he was no less solicitous about the education of the young heir. In his journal, under date of January 27, 1871, on the eve of the surrender of Paris, he thus wrote down the wishes which he felt for his son: "May he become a strong man, loyal, faithful and sincere, a true German, who, free from prejudice, shall continue the work which has been begun." Then follow these terrible lines, which—undoubtedly under the influence of a sort of presentiment which seems to have saddened the last years of his life—the father wrote concerning his son: "One really is afraid, when one thinks of what hopes are centered upon this child, and what responsibilities to our country devolve upon us, in directing his education."

Oh, prophet! On his deathbed, to which, like a jailer watching a prisoner, his son came, with tearless eyes, to watch his father's agony, did not the father perceive more clearly the responsibility which, a few years earlier, he seemed to have guessed?

In order to make him more like other men than is usual with an heir to the throne—who lives generally surrounded by courtiers, clad in purple, and breathing the incense of flattery—the young boy was enrolled at a university. There it was that he was shaped, far away—or farther than he would have been—from the influences of education in the family, and exposed to the slow but sure action of outside contact, and it was there that his mind was gradually modified. Yet, how is it to be explained that material affection was unable to keep him from feeling a precocious hatred of England? This hatred was such that it even made him desire a reapprochment from France. The young prince was then 17 years old; he was giving signs of ambition and megalomania.

TO ADMIRE BISMARCK

At the University of Bonn, where William joined a celebrated student organisation, he was gay at first, and lived as his comrades lived, taking part willingly, of evenings, in the long drinking bouts at which German chauvinism gave itself free rein in song.

It was there that his enthusiasm for Bismarck was born, an enthusiasm which was to endure until the day when that redoubtable personage rose up before William's throne. What with his mother, who felt little esteem for the chancellor, his father, who took Bismarck to task for his illegal acts, and his governess, who hailed from Slesvig-Holstein and had painful memories of 1864, William had been prevented, in his family circle, from feeling the infatuation which the nation felt at that time for Bismarck. At Bonn he met a fanatical admirer of Bismarck, a professor of history, who took care to change the prince's views. "When the prince left the university," this man wrote later, "he had become, thanks to me, a fervent admirer of Prince Bismarck. I am proud of having brought this about."

In addition to the influence of the university and that derived from certain casual meetings, there was also the influence of the barracks, in the barracks it was that the final impression was stamped upon the youth's mind.

On the day when he was regularly enrolled in the army—June 7, 1877—his grandfather reminded him, in the presence of the officers of the regimnnt of the special duties of kings of Prussia with relation to the army. "The years of your youth," he said, "have been the years of a glorious epoch. In your father you have a model of what a leader in war and battles should be. In the service upon which you are entering you will find many things, seemingly insignificant, which will appear strange to you, but you must learn that in military service, there is nothing insignificant, that every part in the edifice of the army must be well made if it is to stand and remain firm."

Naturally, the most typical characteristics of his race are to be found, as at the bottom of a melting-pot, in the soul of William II. But he could never shake himself free—in the eyes of those who were not blinded by his parading—from his inherent inferiority. In him there was a real lack of the qualities of strength; his fall shows this even more than his previous life. And, after this fall, there is nothing to be seen of "the strong oak" under the bark that was so quickly stripped away.

CAPT. W. H. LUNT, BELOVED OF MANY, IS LAID TO REST

Veteran Resident Passes Away, Aged 74, After Long Illness

In the presence of a large gathering of his many friends, assembled to render their final tribute to a lovable and respect inspiring personality, the remains of Captain William Henry Lunt, retired Marine Superintendent of the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company, and one of the old school of foreign China residents, were laid to rest yesterday afternoon at Bubbling Well Cemetery.

Captain Lunt, whose loss is most sincerely mourned by an unusually large circle of friends, was 74 years of age and had been in ill health for many months. He died at his home at 92 Yu Yuen Road on Sunday morning. The services at the Cemetery yesterday were conducted by the Rev. A. N. Rowland, of Union Church, and the pallbearers were Captain H. MacKinnon, Marine Superintendent of the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company; Mr. Gavin Wallace, Engineering Superintendent of the China Merchants'; Mr. John Prentice, Mr. R. B. Mauchan, Dr. J. B. Fearn and Dr. C. S. F. Lincoln, of St. John's University.

Captain Lunt's long career at sea and ashore was one of extreme interest and of admirable achievement. He was born in Salem, Massachussetts, November 24, 1848, a member of a family which had lived in the New England states since 1634. He went to sea in the year 1865, leaving Boston in one of the famous clipper ships. He came to Shanghai in 1872 as second officer of the American ship Cashmere. It is interesting to recall that the Cashmere on this voyage brought out the parts of the Yangtze steamer Nanking, which is still in the river service, now under the name of the Kiangfoo. She was at that time placed under the house flag of Russell and Co., Manager of the Shanghai Steam Navigation Co., and is now one of the China Merchants' fleet.

Captain Lunt went into the service of Russell and Co. in 1872, remaining with them until their interests were taken over by the China Merchants' in 1879. He took command of a vessel in 1881 and continued in this position until 1910, when he entered the Marine Superintendent's office, being appointed marine superintendent January 1, 1911. He held this post until his retirement early in 1921.

Captain Lunt gave valuable service to the Chinese Government during the revolution of 1913, transporting troops, and for this and other services he received the official thanks of the Government and was awarded the Military Medal by President, Yuan Shih K'ai. Later he received the 5th Class Order of Chia Ho and numerous commendatory scrolls.

During his long residence in Shanghai he was a prominent though always self-effacing, member of the community. He was for some years a member of the committee of the American Association, and was a member of the Shanghai Club, the Columbia Country Club, the Shanghai Golf Club and the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Club.

"One of the biggest-hearted and most genuinely and courteously helpful men in the world," is the way in which many have described Captain Lunt. His charitable deeds were legion, though few of them attained notice. China Coast juniors by the score have filed into his office for work and assistance, and in no instance did he fail to respond with sympathy and aid. In personality he was one of the most charming of men, and the memory of him by even the most casual of acquaintances is one of pleasure, while a genuine sorrow must be felt by all of these at his passing.

Captain Lunt was married in 1888. He is survived by his widow, two sons and a daughter—Mr. Carroll Lunt, Mr. William B. Lunt and Mrs. Mary Idella Stedman. He has also a brother and three sisters living in Malden, Mass.

The following wreaths were sent:

Your loving wife, Carroll and Olga and babies, your loving daughter Mollie, Theodore and your loving Grandchildren Helen and Tedo, your loving son Willie, Mrs. C. E. Pearson and Vera, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Peacock, Walter J. Wilson, David Wilson, The China Merchants S. N. Sir Skinner Turner has already arrived in Tientsin. Mr. Power will be represented by Mr. R. T. Evans, the Tientsin American attorney.

Pootung Shopkeepers Are Own Policemen

Shopkeepers in the northern district of Pootung, expecting that the approaching Chinese New Year will bring on the usual crop of armed robbers, have organised a volunteer police force called 'The Winter Precautionary Emergency Squad,' according to the Chinese press. The force is divided into six squads who will patrol the district each night. All the shops will contribute toward the expense involved.

British Women's Association

The following new members have joined the Association since our last announcement:—Miss I. C. Bauld, Miss E. M. A. Cartwright, Miss W. Edgley, Miss Maud B. Fidge, Mrs E. Gordon Lowder, Miss J. M. L. Lowder, Mrs. E. B. Macnaghten, Miss E. C. McMurdo, Miss Blanche Ovens and Mrs. C. W. Pennett. The Association regrets the departure from Shanghai of Mrs. Henman, Mrs N. Mathiesen and Miss H. G. Parratt (now Mrs. Hampden Ross).

SOCIAL SERVICE BOARD

The Hospitals Aid Department of the Board sent 8 sheets, 12 pillow cases, 12 draw sheets and 8 single bed sheets to Miss Lambert, C. M. S. Foochow for distribution among the three hospitals in that district which are badly in need of assistance. Many more workers are wanted in this department.

SPORTS SECTION

Shooting competitions open to all members of the Sports Section have been arranged to take place at the Revolver Club, Route de Say Zoong, on Saturday, February 3rd, at 3 p.m. (1) Beginners:—10 shots at 10 yards, 10 shots at 15 yards. (2) Marksmen and Experts:—5 shots at 10 yards, 5 shots at 15 yards, 10 shots at 20 yards. Prizes given by Mrs. C. D Pearson, Captain of the B. W. A. Revolver Team, will be awarded to the winners. Members wishing to enter should send in their names before January 27 to Miss Adam, 146 Route Pere Robert.

GARDENING SECTION

The attention of members of the Section is called to the excellent brochure on local gardening just published by one of their number, Mrs. E. J. Cornfoot, entitled "The Shanghai Gardeners' Guide," reviewed in these columns on Friday last. This is certainly a work that no one interested in gardening can afford to be without and we congratulate Mrs Cornfoot on having supplied a real need in the place. The Hospital Sub-Section of the Gardening Section gave $20 at Christmas for the purpose of purchasing flowers for the General Hospital. This was provided by certain members who during the past few months contributed money instead of the flowers which are sent regularly by the Sub-Section members. Mrs. Ryde, 639 Avenue Foch is in charge of this department, which carries on a very useful work.

MUSICAL SECTION

The next Musicale to be given by this Section will take place at the old Carlton Cafe (Ningpo Road) on Thursday, 25, at 5.15 p.m. The program is in the hands of Mrs. Isherwood and will be published shortly. A very cordial invitation is extended to all members of the Musical Department of the American Woman's Club and it is hoped that a large number of the sister society will be able to attend. The program for the Spring Session is in the hands of the printers but it is hoped that these will be available for every member of the Section by the end of the week.

ART SECTION

Members of the Art Section are greatly looking forward to hearing Miss Tharle-Hughes discourse on the subject of Modern Artistic Methods on Thursday next, January 18th, at Headquarters at 5.30 p.m. and invited members of the A. W. C. Art Department to join them. Miss Hughes will display sketches and studies in the process of making in order to illustrate her address and if time permits she will also tell the members something of the new Faculty of Arts in London, which bids fair to spread its activities round the world.

As most members of the Art Section are aware, special provision has been made for them in the Reading room at H. Q. in the matter of supplying "Color" and a certain number of books relating to their subject. It must, however, be borne in mind that "Color" is reference only and may not be removed from the room. Two numbers are missing at the present time and these have to re-purchased from London in order to complete the year for binding. What is far more serious is that a number of books on art have recently been removed from the room and that no entry in the librarian's book has been made by the borrower. It is hoped that these books will be returned immediately to the librarian.

Members are reminded that Wednesday, 17 is the sending in day for sketches for inclusion in the folio which is to start the round of the Art Section on Thursday and it is hoped that a good number of works will be submitted to give this new scheme a good beginning The folio will be sent only to exhibiting members.

NEEDLEWORK SECTION

A slight error crept into the last announcement connected with the donations made by this Section as a result of their Sale of work:—they should be as follows, B. W. A. Residence Fund, $400.00., Headquarters Upkeep Fund $50.00., and through the Social Service Board, Foreign Women's Home $100.00., Hospitals Aid Department $50.00 General Benevolent Fund $100.00.

ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE

The whole-hearted support of the Tea Dance arranged by the Entertainment Committee at the New Carlton on the 31st. is asked from every member of the Association. The proceeds after expenses are paid will go to finance the Committee's entertainments on behalf of the entire membership for, it is hoped, a long time to come.

LITERARY SECTION

The next item on the program of the Literary Section is a paper on "Leonard Merrick" by Mr. Donaldson, which will be read at Headquarters on January 23 at 5.30 p.m.

Buddhists Protest Against Pope Sending Envoy To Japan

Buddhists in Japan have begun an agitation against the proposal of the Government to send a representative to the Vatican, provision for this new departure having been made in the Budget for this year, says the Japan Chronicle. The leaders in the protest are the members of the Buddhist Federation of Hiroshima prefecture, comprising more than 3,000 priests of all sects. They declare that it is against the principles of International Law to acknowledge the Pope of Rome as a sovereign. It was trampling upon the existing system of religion. France, Austria, Portugal and Spain have their representatives in the Pope's Court it is true, but they are Catholic countries. If Japan should exchange Ministers with the Court of Rome it would bring nothing but trouble. Manifestoes of protest have been printed and circulated.

The amount to be voted for the expenses of the Envoy to Rome, according to the Budget estimate, is Yen, 114,000.

What useful purpose the Japanese representative is expected to serve we have not heard, but the Buddhist Federation is a little too ready to declare that international law is against such representation. France, at any rate so far as its Government is concerned, is hardly a Catholic country, and Britain now has a representative at the Vatican. If Japan finds it expedient to have such a representative there is not much to be said against it. The matter would be different if a religious organisation in Japan had diplomatic representatives sent to it from abroad.

Asia Banking Corporation

January 15, 1923

Spot bar silver was up ⅛d. and forward unchanged in London on Saturday. The New York price advanced to 65½ cents and the London-New York cross rate declined to 467½.

Our official Sterling rate here this morning was raised to 3s. 0½d., the Gold Dollar rate to 71, the Yen rate dropped to 69 and the other rates changed in proportion.

Our market, however, was firm throughout the day and the official Sterling rate was raised in the afternoon further to 3s. 0⅝d., the Gold Dollar rate to 71½, the Yen rate dropped to 68½ and the other rates changed accordingly.

In the early part of the morning some business in Sterling was done at 3s. 0⅞d. January delivery, 3s. 0¾d. February and 3s. 0⅝d. March.

Gold Dollars were done at 72 January, 71⅞ February and 71¾ for forward delivery.

However, there were good sellers at these rates and the market quickly firmed up and closed with sellers of Sterling at 3s. 1/16d. January, 3s. 1d. February and 3s. 0⅞d. March.

There were sellers of Gold Dollars at the close at 72⅝ January, 72¼ February and 72⅛ for forward deliveries.

There were sellers of Yen at the close at 67½ for January delivery with buyers at 67⅜, and sellers for March at 67¾ with buyers at 67½.

In the afternoon banks were quoting 3s. 2d. and 71¼ for Sterling and Gold Dollar bills for delivery prior to China New Year and 3s. 1⅞d. and 74 for subsequent deliveries. There were probably buyers of Franc bills at 1065.

India bought silver again in London for prompt shipment and China sold forward delivery on Saturday, the market closing steady. There was no business done in the New York market.

Germany's Mountains Of Marks

(Note: Here's how one leading American newspaper (The New York Herald) thinks about the persistent output of paper marks):

GERMANY'S intention, it is announced, is to raise an internal gold loan to be used for stabilising the mark and for cash reparations payments. But, with Germany already buried under seven hundred and fifty billions of paper marks and the printing presses recently flooding them out at the rate of more than one hundred billions of marks a week, there is not enough gold in Germany, there is not enough gold in Europe, to stabilise the volatile mark unless something rational and practical is done about the impossible reparations.

The mark cannot be stabilised under present conditions when the printing press output will have created in a short period of time a thousand billions of worthless paper marks. And the printing press will not stop printing the worthless paper marks when the reparations payments, if insisted upon, would drain Germany of all metallic money, of all movable assets, of all surplus products.

It is of no use to mince words about the reparations. As they stand on the books they cannot be paid. They can only sink German finances to the bottomless depths while cheating the reparations claimants of what they demand.

When the allied Powers to the last single member are willing to look that plain truth in the face and act on it there will be hope of stopping the currency printing presses and of making German foreign gold loans. Then there will be a chance to stabilise the vanishing mark and to benefit all the rest of Europe by the economic salvation of Germany, which in fact would mean the economic salvation of the rest of Europe.

Pity the poor little Chinese boys. They get married so young that they never have a chance to find out that all men are born free and equal.

FRENCH MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

Sir: The letter of Dr. Vallet in this morning's paper announcing his policy as a candidate for the French Council is of importance to every foreigner living in the French Concession.

Dr. Vallet proposes to abolish the present foreign representation on the Council and or abolish the rights of foreigners to be tried in their own courts for offences committed within the boundaries of the Council and/or abolish the proposals would revolutionise the position of all foreigners, residing in the French Concession and would cause no end of trouble to no good purpose.

I think most people, excepting those who may agree with the extreme views of Dr. Vallet, have the greatest respect and admiration for the French regime which, while safeguarding essentially French interests, yet gives other nationalities representation in the counsels and direction of the affairs of the Concession.

It is charitable to suppose that Dr. Vallet's comparatively short residence in Shanghai has not enabled him, so far, adequately to appreciate the true strength of the French regime in the Concession which rests upon the support and goodwill of all the residents as the natural response to the enlightened and liberal policy of the French authorities towards them in the past.

It behoves every foreigner who has a vote to attend at the Municipal Hall and support Dr. Tartois and Mons. Chapeaux whom we know and respect so highly, likewise Mr. Norman Dyer, the Vice-Chairman of the Council, who has given so many years of devoted service—not to "foreigners" interests—but to the interests of the French Concession which is surely what all of us who dwell there are concerned with, first and last. I am, etc.

"Kibitzer"—A New Useful Word

No vocabulary is complete without the newest importation into America from middle Europe. It's—

"Kibitzer."

The accent is on the first syllable.

"Kibitzer" makes up a deficiency in the language. Heretofore no single one of the 533,273 available English words has described the wise chap who hags around telling you how whatever you're doing ought to be done. You were privileged to bawl him out, call the police, submit to him with patient resignation, complain to the house committee, bust him on the nose, walk out on him—but you couldn't classify him. There wasn't a word in the language that exactly fitted his case.

Hence the immediate popularity of "kibitzer." The word is bringing new peace and tranquility to the billiard tables and card rooms, to the checker boards and tennis courts, as it chases the pestiferous side line advisers to their holes. It is even proving useful in literature, art, science, commerce and industry; not to mention politics.

Alexander Harkavy, the lexicographer, says "kibitzer" is a Yiddish word, presumably brought to America from Austria or Germany by the devotees of chess. As Yiddish is largely composed of middle high German, he thinks the term may have had its origin in the middle high German word "kiebitz," which refers to the bird known in America as the "pewee."

The noun is "kibitzer," the verb is "kibitz" and the participle is "kibitzing."

No matter what the source, the effect is to clear the immediate atmosphere of unasked advice and information.

NORTHERN CHEKIANG

In Northern Chekiang business circles the year, just ended according to the Gregorian calendar and now by Chinese reckoning drawing to a close, has not been one of general satisfaction. The consensus of opinion in Huchow and vicinity is that it has been a bad year all around.

When it is analysed however and looked at in respect to the various industries carried on, it is found that there are many bright spots in its otherwise lugubrious history. This history may be summed up in one word—silk. Silk is the staple production of this region, which in fact is the largest silk producing district of China, and in large measure it serves as the barometer for all business operations. When silk is returning good profits upon the capital invested, all lines of business are generally prosperous; and when the silk trade suffers a reverse the effect is felt throughout every line of business from that of the coolie whose only investment is his muscle to the transactions of the biggest firms whose sales extend to Canton and Peking and even to far-off America.

The year in silk in the region immediately around Huchow has been distinctly bad. The production has been much less than usual, being but 300,000 rolls as compared with 400,000 rolls produced the previous year, while the price of the manufactured silk has been such that no profits whatever have been realisable. There are at least two outstanding reasons for this, one being the shortage of crop and the consequent high price of raw silk, and the other the disturbed conditions in China due to military operations. Canton usually a lavish buyer of Huchow silk has on this account been practically eliminated as a market. Another factor which has operated adversely for the local silk trade has been the unusual low price of foreign imported dress goods. The people have naturally enough preferred to buy foreign suitings at a moderate price rather than to pay considerably more for native silk.

BAD SILK YEAR

Together with the silk merchants the silk factories have also had a hard year. Many of them at this date, with the end of the financial year still a month in the future, have been forced to close. It is stated that 40% of all the looms in the city are now idle with the prospect of others being put out of commission at Chinese New Year.

The trade in raw silk as already indicated has been good with prices high and profits correspondingly satisfactory. In other lines than silk, merchants claim to have had a bad year, though by this they generally mean that profits have not been as large as ordinarily. It is admitted that with but few exceptions no business has actually lost money. The native banks are much dissatisfied over the conditions confronting them, asserting that no bank in Huchow has made any money the past year with the exception of the Bank of China, which with its larger capital has been able to achieve more gratifying results.

One matter for much regret is that the large silk filature just north of the city has lately been shut down and is offered for sale with no prospect as far as known of a purchaser. This filature was built in 1909 at a cost of Taels 100,000, and since the beginning has been a money maker. Unfortunately its principal owner lost some $50,000 in the exchanges that flourished in Shanghai several years ago and was forced to sell his Huchow property. The next owners, a Shanghai firm, have gone bankrupt on account of business misfortunes in Shanghai, and the filature is again offered for sale. Huchow capitalists, apparently not realising the importance of continuing such a plant nor regarding it of any particular asset to the city, allege that their money is already well invested and are unwilling to take over this filature. There is therefore danger that it may be permanently closed, the machinery taken out and sold, and the buildings allowed to fall into decay.

What has been said above applies to Huchow and its vicinity. To the east of this district, especially in Nanzing, raw silk, the principal commodity of commerce, has commanded fine prices and all lines of business are flourishing. To the west of Huchow business is reported good in all places except in the An-chi district where the autumn floods caused great devastation necessitating the flood relief work which is now being undertaken by the Chekiang International Famine Relief Committee.

COAL MINE PROSPEROUS

The coal mine at Szmetong 45 li from the city of Tsanghsing is reported as being fairly prosperous. This mine was opened in 1911. There are a large number of shareholders and about $4,000,000 has been invested. The mine is operated with machinery but the workings are not yet very extensive and only 300 tons of coal a day are being mined. In order to get really satisfactory returns from the investment at least a thousand tons should be taken out daily. The company are taking steps towards enlarging the mine so that this result may be achieved. During the year 1922 a railway about twenty miles in length was completed at a cost of something over $1,000,000. This railway is for the transportation of coal only, between the mine and the canal where the coal is transhipped to Shanghai and other points. The equipment consists of three engines, about thirty coal cars and a modern dumping station at the canal.

While as indicated above, conditions in Northern Chekiang have been disappointing in certain lines of business it is generally felt that this represents only a temporary setback which will be more than balanced by the better business looked for in the year to come. The general condition of Northern Chekiang is indeed one of established prosperity. This is evident to the observer who is able to compare conditions at present with those existing five or ten years ago. Such an one will see that immense strides have been made along the path of progress within the past few years. The process of rebuilding the cities made necessary by various conflagrations and by the deterioration of old buildings has gone steadily forward.

Whole blocks are now new and compare favorably with streets in Shanghai. The people dress better, and look better and more prosperous than even five years ago. They have more money to spend and spend more. Progressive ideas are abroad and are increasingly evident in practical lines in spite of the conservatism of the older generation. It is indubitable that nothing less than a cataclysm of nature can permanently hinder the progress of this rich and fertile country of Northern Chekiang.

"Gadboy told me a month or two ago that his physician had limited him to one drink a day, but he doesn't look as if he had reformed."

"He hasn't. He went to four other doctors, and each one gave him the same advice. He's following the advice of all five of them."

Dejected Traveller—"I say, Pat, did you ever make an idiot of yourself about a woman?"

Pat—"An idjut, it is? Sure, I've made mesilf an intire asylum."

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Hall's Distemper (Registered Trade Mark) is a unique preparation and has the recommendation of leading sanitary authorities, architects, and decorators everywhere.

Machine To Handle Figures

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

"Please explain how a slide rule is used to find logarithms and to calculate with. Also on what principles it works.—J. W., Schenectady."

To explain in detail the working of the slide rule would hardly be practicable in an article of this kind. But the subject is one of wide interest, since the slide rule ranks among the greatest labor-saving machines ever invented. The practical mathematical computer would probably feel the loss of his slide rule as seriously as the farmer would that of his mowing-machine.

Fortunately, the principle on which the slide rule is based is easily illustrated. Suppose I want to add the number 83 to the number 99. Anybody "quick at figures" can do it in his head in a second, though if the figures were larger that would not be so easy. Most persons would set the two numbers down one over the other, and add them by the series of steps that they learned in school, thus: 9 and 3 make 12, set down the 2 and "carry" the 1, then 9 and 8 make 17, add the 1 and it becomes 18, set this down before (to the left of) the 2, and the whole sum appears as the number 182.

Now, this operation can be done mechanically by means of two straight scales, each graduated into equal divisions, numbered 0, 1, 2, 3, etc. Set the scales side by side, so that one can slide along the other. Let the numbers run up, say, to 200 on each scale. To add 83 to 99, slide the zero, i.e., the left-hand end, of the movable scale up to the 99 on the motionless one and look to see with what number on the latter the 83 of the movable scale corresponds. It is the number 182. Thus you have mechanically done with a single motion what it took many motions and several mental computations to do when you performed the multiplication with pencil and paper. Moreover, the scales make no mistakes.

Suppose you want to subtract 27 from 83. It takes some little time with the pencil, but the parallel scales do it at a stroke, thus: Sept. 27 on the movable scale opposite 83 on the stationary one, then the figure on the latter scale found standing opposite to 0 on the movable one will be the remainder you seek, viz., 56. You will find it very interesting to prove the truth of all this by making a pair of scales with strips of cardboard or wood. You need not graduate them above the sum of the two greatest numbers that you wish to experiment with. Thus, if neither number exceeds 6, then 12 graduations on each scale will be sufficient.

But—do not imagine that these parallel scales for addition and substraction constitute what is called a slide rule. Such scales have certain uses of their own, but I am employing them here simply to show the basis, or principle, underlying the slide rule. A very simple form of slide rule intended to perform multiplications and subtractions can be made by graduating the two scales, not into equal divisions, but into divisions whose lengths correspond with the logarithmic ratios of the successive numbers. Then the figures 1, 2, 3, etc., will signify, not those numbers themselves, but their logarithms.

Assuming that you have two scales thus divided, let us use them to multiply, say, 15 by 9. If we set the beginning of the movable scale on the nine of the stationary one, the figure opposite the 15 of the movable scale will be the product sought, viz., 135.

This occurs because, as already said, the figures are spaced at distances corresponding to the logarithms of the respective numbers, so that what we have effected by our operation is the adding of the logarithms of the numbers 9 and 15. But, by the principle of logarithms, such addition amounts to the multiplication of the corresponding numbers, and the result of the multiplication is shown by the number on the stationary scale. That result is attained by one quick movement, guided, of course, by an accurate hand and eye.

For division reverse the operation, as we did when subtracting, with the other scales. The true slide rule is more complicated, but its principle of action is the same. Its divisions, too, represent logarithms. Four such scales are placed in juxtaposition lengthwise. Many ingenious forms are given to the instrument, but, however great its complications may appear, there is really only the one governing principle.

The same general principle also underlies an astonishing number of calculating machines used everywhere for checking human errors and facilitating scientific and commercial calculations. A curious historic detail is that a wonderful calculating engine invented by Charles Babbage about 1834 was used by its inventor as the basis of an argument to prove intelligent design in natural creation.

Is Procrastination One Of Your Faults?

BY J. J. MUNDY

Some day you intend to start on that extra work you know you can do, to earn an added income, but you are still putting it off.

You do not want to pin yourself down to doing more than you have to do to draw your present comfortable income?

Often you have realised that a larger income is essential to your future, but you are getting along so well in the present with the effort you are putting forth that you are averse to breaking into the habit of comfort you now enjoy.

But, supposing another should take up the work you intend to do and others should follow him in the circle of patronage you would have to depend upon to make a success of your extra undertaking, what then?

Also, if you should become incapacitated for any line of work for which you are prepared, what would you do?

Do all you can NOW.

Do not wait to find time—make time for it. Start immediately on that special work you have planned so long to do.

Future time is always uncertain; grasp present opportunities and make others, for there is no time so valuable as the present. DO IT NOW.

They Say—

Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney of Los Angeles—"People no longer seem to want protection by the authorities charged with the enforcement of law and order. The obvious duty of any district attorney taking office in its true seriousness is to ferret out the killer in a murder case. But many times there are strange psychological forces working on public sentiment that are against him. It is his duty to protect the community from murderers and other criminals, but to do so effectively he must have the full co-operation of all persons interested in the cases at hand. If the minds of some of the jurors I have had to contend with in certain famous trials represent the mind of the public, then I must assume that the people do not wish to be protected by the laws on our statute books."

Mrs. Peter B. Kyne, wife of the noted novelist—"All men thought once that to be different from them was to be inferior—and most women pretended to agree with them. But now, with so many men getting out of that bad habit, there is no reason why women should grant that because a woman's way of buttoning her knickers is different from a man's way of buttoning his it is, necessarily, inferior. We rightly laugh at the old biological wee-wawings of its public appointments."

about women, or biology has somersaulted, and we are coming to understand that the principal differences between men and women, apart from certain important functional ones, are due to long different occupations through the ages."

Guy Lowell, prominent New York architect—"Public architecture in the United States is making such advancement, as shown in many of our cities and in many of the capitals of our States that European visitors are finding in our work one of the principal things that attracts them to our shores. Our architects are also taking the keenest interest in the great movement of the present year for improving domestic architecture and for supplying comfortable and decent housing for our population as a whole. I consider the plans for the New York Court House an indication of the progress of American architecture, the growing splendor of our cities, and the maturing of the country in its artistic taste as well as in the character of its public appointments."

Children Cry for Fletcher's
CASTORIA
Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.
It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.
Save the Babies.
Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, "cures" and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain, more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

Weather Report

Jan. 14.—Anticyclone between Liaotung and Manchuria. A depression, developed in Szechuen advances rapidly towards the sea, along the right bank of the Yangtsze; it excites cyclonic winds as far as Shantung and the Zeiaco-Sina group. Mild and damp weather in our Valley; rain at Wenchow and Ningpo; snow at Peking. Distinct minimum in N. Mindanao, coming probably from Yap.

Jan. 15.—The depression passes, about midnight, near the mouth of the Yangtsze. The wind veers and blows in strong N. W. squalls. The pressure rises while the temperature decreases rapidly.

SHIPPING BOARD TO SPEND LARGE SUM ON VESSELS

Liners Taft And Pierce To Profit Under New Plan Of Officials

Extensive changes in the boiler systems of the Pacific Mail liners President Taft and President Pierce will be made in the near future, according to information given out in San Francisco and received in Shanghai last night. Both vessels have had some engine room trouble and both are to be overhauled so that there will be no repetition of the trouble.

Expenditure of approximately $4,500,000 to put the government vessels in the best condition for the spring trade, is to be made by the shipping board. This amount, it is understood, may be doubled in the event the board decides to re-condition for trans-Atlantic service the Agamemnon and Mount Vernon, Ex-German ships, now lying idle at Hoboken.

BETTER REFRIGERATION

Of the $4,500,000 which the board contemplates spending, about $3,000,000 will be expended on the '535' and '522' type vessels. Three-quarters of a million of this will go for additional refrigeration, half a million for new condenser tubes, one-quarter of a million for new pumps, and the remainder for miscellaneous overhauling and structural changes found necessary after a year or more of steady operation of the vessels.

The five shipping board vessels operated by the Pacific Mail to the Orient, two of which are badly in need of changes, will receive their part of the expenditures. The President Pierce, now on drydock at San Francisco and the President Taft, en route from Shanghai to San Francisco have been sources of complaint and expense and have never performed as have the other '535' type vessels. They are equipped with naval boilers, which experts say will never prove satisfactory in ships of this type.

IMPORTANT CHANGES

The proposed expenditures will be made with the idea in view of satisfying the special freight-carrying requirements of the trade in whith the ships are being operated. The additional refrigeration is of prime importance to the freight market, and the 10 liners operated out of San Francisco and Seattle will also have refrigeration systems, as the board has been informed that there is a big demand for space on these liners for fresh fruits, vegetables and eggs.

The board has experimented with refrigeration systems of 500 tons capacity on two of the Munson liners operated to South America, and it is reported that the board is prepared to go further with these experiments, as satisfactory have the first two liners proved. The systems on the South American liners, used mainly to carry fruits out of season, will be practically doubled in capacity. The United States liners running to London already have ample refrigeration space, but additional system will be installed in the President Harding and President Roosevelt on the Bremen run, with a view to carrying fresh apples.

Plans and specifications are being prepared by the engineering departments of the United States lines and the shipping board for conversion of the America into a cabin class ship, and the complete reconditioning of the ex-German liner President Grant, which has been idle since he war, into a cabin carrier. The estimated total cost of these jobs is $1,500,000, unless the decision is taken to make the vessels oil burners, which would require a much larger sum.

China Must Wait On Mixed Court Issue

(China Press Service)

Peking, Jan. 14.—With reference to the question of the reform of the Mixed Court regime at Shanghai, the Diplomatic Corps, in reply to a recent communication of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, states that the Powers are not prepared to discuss the proposal of the Chinese Government, pending the investigation by the International Commission of Jurists into China's judicial system and administration in accordance with the decision reached at the Washington Conference regarding the abrogation of extraterritoriality in this country.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs, however, holds that the Mixed Court regime and consular jurisdiction are separate things and therefore the solution of the former problem should not be made conditional upon that of the latter. It is understood that Dr. Alfred Sze, newly appointed acting Minister of Foreign Affairs, will further communicate with the Diplomatic Corps on the subject shortly.
